WAR ORPHANS ARRIVE AT NEW HOME—Happy to be in Canada are these European war orphans who now are guests at the spacious Mount Mary Immaculate orphanage at Ancaster, Ont. They received a warm greeting from children of the home who donated their best clothes to welcome their new friends. The little girl in front, recipient of a bouquet of lilacs, asked personally by Pope Pius XII to find foster homes for displaced Catholic orphans. Cardinal James McGaughey was on hand to welcome children to Canada.—S.N.S. photo.

WEDDING COST $100,000—Monique's fine, expensive wedding was shown said to have cost $100,000, took place when Phyllis Broadman, shown, daughter of the president of leading Canadian distillery, was married to Jean Lambert of Paris and New York. Flowers, shown by her father, included 15,000 roses from Italy.—S.N.S. photo.

STOPPED THE WIND—To stop the wind from blowing his clover and Timothy seed better-off, Gordon Wade fastened cardboard strips to his seed drill's spokes. He is shown sowing Ajax oats at his farm near Williamsburg, Ont. Although the day was windy, the clover seed had become as docile as the Ajax.

INGENUOUS DEVICES FOR SAFE-CRACKERS—Lined up behind an array of safe-cracking equipment are four young men who were arrested by New York police as they were attempting to break into two officers in the Times Square area. Four detectives checking a subway locker in search of more tools owned by the gang were burned when gas from acetylene containers exploded in their faces. Pictured, (left to right), are: Allen Coulter, 23; Michael Pereira, 21; Calvin Coolidge Iann, 26, and William Masters, 21. Police said the quartet had in their possession a welder's tank, acetylene torches, two containers of acetylene gas and other cutting tools.—S.N.S. photo.

FROM HER ROYAL HIGHNESS—A ROSETTE—Princess Elizabeth has a charming smile for a champion as she presents a rosette to R. Linder, rider of Mounties who was reserve champion in the hunter class at the Royal Horse show held in the home park of Windsor Castle, recently. Her royal highness was accompanied to the show by her consort, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.—S.N.S. photo.

"BIG BLACK BEAR" SEEN BY BOYS—The black bear which tread Albert Taylor, seven, in Highland Creek husband near Toronto, Ont., as he was on his way to school has disappeared as quickly as it came. A thorough search of the area brought no trace of the bear. Like the preacher in the song, Albert Taylor went up a tree when he saw the bear. "It was the big and all black," he reports. A school class also saw the animal and footprints were found.—S.N.S. photo.

FARM MACHINE EXPERTS—At the suggestion of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture a group of farm machine experts from the United Kingdom arrived in Canada recently to visit farming centers for the next few weeks. The above picture shows the British mission studying a tractor during and harvesting on the Macdonald College Seed Farm.

NO FISH STORY WORKY—These men don't have to worry about their fish story—they have 400 pounds of proof. This is a sturgeon, caught in Cobequid Bay off the shore of Nova Scotia and measuring nearly nine feet. Mrs. Oswald J. Mosher, of Bass River, N.S., took this magnificent and she says the men could hardly hold the fish high enough to have the picture taken. The fish's supporting cast are Mr. Mosher and Mrs. Mosher's brother.

SNAPPED LIKE MATCHSTICKS—The top of a telephone pole, snapped like a matchstick, dangles from the ground after it crumbled before the onslaught of one of the worst electrical storms in Montreal's history. Thirteen of these poles were knocked down by the cyclonic force wind.

GAVE MILLIONS SOMETHING TO "FONDER ABOUT"—Jockey Steve Brooks, (right), rider of the Kentucky Derby winner Ponder, is congratulated by Kentucky's Governor Earle C. Clements, (left), as Calumet Farms Trainer Ben Jones holds the cup emblematic of the upset victory of his entry in the 75th running of the racing classic at Churchill Downs, Ky. Also in the picture is Col. Matt Winn, who as responsible for transforming the Derby from a sectional race into one of the great events of turfdom over a period of 40 years. This is the 27th Derby cup that Trainer Jones has handled. Ponder was something over $1,000, of which Brooks will receive a traditional 10 per cent. Ogilvy, the pre-Derby favorite, finished out of the money, coming in sixth.—S.N.S. photo.

WOLVES, BEWARE—Who's afraid of wolves? No one according to Canadian fashion models who are unanimous in saying the only girls who are bothered by wolf calls are those who want to be. But, just to show, this petite miss is prepared for the worst. And underneath these teasing gloves are bare knuckles.—S.N.S. photo.

THE ADVANTAGE OF OXEN—If oxen keep the traditional Land of plowshare alive, the Nova Scotia farmer that drives them is not too concerned with history. He has his own reasons for sticking to the plowing animal. Nowadays a good pair of oxen can cost the farmer as much as he would have to pay for two teams of horses or a small tractor. Working oxen even wear shoes, and the blacksmith lifts the oxen in a sling, (top picture), fastening the feet so they can be fitted; adding leg timber to the stick pile, (lower picture), is another job which oxen do well.

MISS SARA WORTHY was very ten to address it. I let you forget

Could lie a month in bed,
With broken bones and stitched-up
wounds,
Or fractures of the head,
And there endure the agonies
That some people do.

Who would be forced to drink a dose.
If everyone who takes the wheel
Would say a little prayer,
And keep in mind those in the car
Depending on his care,
And make a vow and pledge himself
To never take a chance,
The Great Crusade for Safety
Would really advance.

More and more people realize how much dust has been thrown in our eyes about China by influencers in all our agencies and institutions disseminating information. And many believe it is not too late to come to the aid of China in a new and effective way.

We have trained many Chinese students in our institutions. We have sent many missionaries to China
—educational and diplomatic,
economic, commercial, religious,
medical and military. But somehow we have not given China the evidence that wins them to democracy and creates a zeal to fight for it: the ability to bring economic and political order out of chaos; the moral fibre with which to build integrity out of corruption, honest dealing out of black markets, and armies that cannot be bought over and sold out.

We of the West can give to China, as to all the rest of the world, a zeal for true democracy, moral integrity and ideological
"freedom" if we have the zeal,
know-how and integrity ourselves.

PARDON our pointing . . . with pride.

But it's an event when the number of bank workers passes the 40,000 mark—as it did last year.

That's 65% more than before the war.

It's an event, first, because it shows the increased use of Canadian bank services . . .

More deposits accounts: now over seven million.

More funds: customers' deposits now reach nearly seven billion dollars. More services: to farmers; to personal and small-business borrowers; to war pensioners; to people receiving Family Allowances.

It's an event, too, because of the kind of men and women who have joined our ranks. Eager to get ahead, they are finding in banking an interesting job, a challenging career. They can tell you how important privacy in banking is to the Canadian way of doing things.

Go to your bank. It's not like having a dead walk in a state bureau—but that's how it would be under state monopoly.
